About C-Metric

C-Metric has been helping companies improve operations and long-term performance since 1995. Delivering innovative business solutions that combine technology, systems development, business process outsourcing (BPO) and our extensive industry experience, C-Metric helps clients solve their most complex business challenges, and achieve their strategic goals for higher growth, efficiency and profitability worldwide. As a true strategic partner, our performance is reflected in our long and loyal client list, and the trust our clients place in our partnerships.

We Believe

C-Metric was founded on the idea that the coordinated application of systems development, back-office services and best practices can enable our clients to better compete in their target markets, better serve their customers and stakeholders, and grow more profitably in a rapidly changing world. By providing both strategic and tactical resources that enable our clients to manage growth, C-Metric enables them to achieve it.

Solving today's most critical business problems takes three key strengths

People, Technology and Expertise.

C-Metric provides System Development services that integrate disparate data sources and reports, while laying a future-proof foundation for growth.

C-Metric provides Business Process Outsourcing services that can dramatically reduce operating costs, while improving both quality and control.

C-Metric provides solution expertise for a wide range of industry challenges, while insuring that clients get the greatest ROI from their technology investments.

C-Metric has established a strong reputation with its clients by taking on numerous outsourcing projects and delivering them with precision. The applications we build are characterized by flexibility, scalability, quality and faster time-to-market.

We can setup a dedicated development team that work exclusively on your projects to stay focused, or a shared development team that can be highly cost effective.

Our consulting model provides you with the talent and experience you need to gain that competitive advantage.

Why Go Global?

Businesses today are going global for many reasons. Skills you need may be hard to find in your area, and that can push up cost. Higher costs may make it impossible to get things done within budget.

Volatility in business drives up the 'fix-cost risk', because maintaining capacity requires multi-year lease commitments and capital.

This can stifle growth, force you to take irrational risks, or lose business to competitors who have figured out how to solve these problems.

Having access to variable cost capacity and to be able to engage global resources and talent can solve these challenges and enable you to compete successfully.

Why C-Metric?

C-Metric can provide you turnkey access to a global workforce that can save you as much as 40-70% compared to using in-house resources.

For over 20 years, C-Metric has consistently delivered these kinds of results for its clients by improving client's productivity, efficiency, and profitability. We help clients develop new products, enter new markets and expand their market share. Ultimately, we help our clients be more competitive and more profitable.

At C-Metric, we work with organizations of every size, taking care of everything from setting up a team to developing detailed documentation and controls for project or process work.

Outsourcing is hard. And it's even harder to do it right. All outsourcing companies are not equal. Large outsourcers want large engagements, and they are either too expensive or too inflexible. A small shop or a freelancer simply doesn't have the infrastructure, organization, processes, or experience. And, with the wrong team, you have more than money to lose; you can lose market opportunity, reputation, and - worst of all - the confidence of your customers. With C-Metric's decades of experience and our proven track record you can eliminate your risk, reduce cost, and achieve results.

C-Metric stands out as one of the few organizations with a systematic quality assurance program with its ISO 9001 certification and Six Sigma aware processes.

C-Metric is also a distinguished ISO 27001 certified company with code and practices for information security management. We not only maintain the level of data security required for this international standard, we aim to exceed the standard.
